In association with our Winter Major Production, Next to Normal, Tufts University Department of Drama and Dance is pleased to welcome Tufts’ Alumni Joel Perez

Q&A with Joel Perez
February 8, 2016
12:00 – 1:00 PM
Balch Arena Theater
Open to the Public

Master Class with Joel Perez
February 8, 2016
8:00 – 10:00 PM
Balch Arena Theater
Open to the Public

Funded, sponsored, and supported by the Tufts’ AS&E Diversity Fund, The Department of Drama and Dance, The Latino Center, the LGBT Center, the Latino Studies Program, and The Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies program.

Joel Perez is a performer living in Brooklyn, NY. He currently stars in the Tony Award-winning Broadway production of Fun Home after originating the role off-Broadway at The Public Theater. He's done work on TV in Person of Interest (CBS), The Big C (Showtime), and Black Box (ABC). He has toured nationally and internationally in In the Heights and Fame. He has participated in developmental labs with the Sundance Theater Lab, Soho Rep, Atlantic Theater Company, and many others. He has also worked on several commercials and voice-overs. He's an ensemble member of Broken Box Mime Theater and Pregones Theater. He studied at Tufts University, The British American Drama Academy, and Upright Citizen's Brigade. He is represented by BRS/GAGE.

For more information about Next To Normal performances, please visit our Facebook page:
Next to Normal-Tufts University Drama